That Alpaca Ate My Cracker!

Jane Riordan

It was peaceful in the mountains,

MUNCH! Munch! Who's that munching?

it was peaceful on the hill.

CRUNCH! crunch! Who's that crunching?

All was calm

and quiet

until ...

It's YACCA THE ALPACA,
that's who!

With his head
held high
and slightly knocked knees.

His long
white wool
BLOWS
in the breeze.

Yacca's fluffy tummy
is loud and rumbly.

He always seems to be extremely

HUNGRY!

As Yacca wanders off in search of a

snack,

He

sees

BEAR

slurping honey,

lying on his back.

Yacca bounds forward

and makes a daring

DASH ...

... and takes honey from Bear as quick as a flash!

"It's not funny!

He stole my HONEY!

But Yacca the Alpaca simply goes on his way.

my tasty snack,
I want it BACK!"

For Yacca the Alpaca it is a HUNGRY day.

A little while later, Yacca spies another TREAT.

It's Armadillo,
with juicy
FRUIT to eat.

With a loud lip-smacking

SLIP,
SLOP,
SLAP...

Yacca LEANS RIGHT in and steals the snack!

But Yacca the Alpaca simply goes on his way.

"That hungry brute stole my fruit!"

For Yacca the Alpaca it is a HUNGRY day.

Monkey is then spotted by YACCA.

He's quietly nibbling on a tasty cracker.

With a GOBBLE,
MUNCH

and a rather

GREEDY

crunch ...

... Yacca steals monkey's lunch!

"That alpaca ATE my cracker!"

But Yacca the Alpaca simply goes on his way.

The fluffy beast took my FEAST!

For Yacca the Alpaca it is a HUNGRY day.

"I DO declare

this has

GOT

to end,

Yacca the

Alpaca

is not a

kind

friend."

The friends make a plan to set off

and

CHASE.

"That naughty alpaca!"

So begins

the

GREAT

RACE...

They follow a trail of crumbs that leads to the Alpaca.

But Yacca hears them coming,

and sets off with the cracker.

Monkey starts to chase,

Bear lumbers after.

(Armadillo wishes she was much faster.)

As they race along, they don't notice the hump.

One by one, they go

BUMP! BUMP ...

... THUMP!

The fruit is squashed,
the cracker is
crumbled,

The honey is
dripping,

everything is jumbled.

"I'm terribly sorry," Yacca says, feeling bad.

But the mixed-up
snacks

make the

BEST

MEAL

he's

ever

had!

As they tuck in,

the new friends declare,

"Everything tastes

SO

MUCH

better

when you

SHARE!"
